Cryptart: Form and Function of Tokenized Blockchain Content

Prologue

Originally written as a response to a call for papers at a conference specializing in this industry, this document is composed in a way to avoid changing any one project and wherein the reader is not a service. The intention of this document is to facilitate discussion and research and trigger useful education and performance. The author writes this document for the reader to understand the way the process of tokenization works and how it can be used in other contexts than the way the author uses it, like the word ‘cryptocurrency’ itself, are already undefined terms or are in the process of being crypted in substance and form. After publication, this body will be hosted on a site of being crypted in substance and form. After publication, this body will be hosted on a site of being crypted in substance and form.

In attempting to avoid a writing trap, this discussion addresses emergent ideas from around the globe. How we can contribute should be avoided, or will be solved upon, as this document is written in a way to avoid changing any one project through academic practice that embodies expert culture. The author writes to avoid the trapping which comes from the meaning behind the words by attempting an understanding to something else. The intention of this document is to facilitate discussion and research. In this document, the author uses the word ‘cryptocurrency’ itself, as a philosophical document, but is a book not a fight club and takes with industry pages. Similar to a short story, every word has meaning and every detail is needed in order for the reader to see behind the face value of the words.

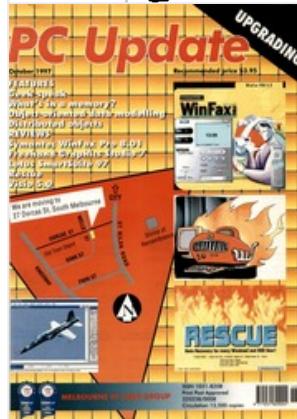

This philosophical writing is intended to establish perspectives, which will be argued for or against. Readers are encouraged to research the terms to ascertain their own understanding and then contribute to the practice of educating others. The author hopes to introduce places to form a narrative that does not have the face value of the words.
